

Directory of Special Libraries and Information Centers

Now online on Gale Directory Library

Now Available Directory of Special Libraries and Information Centers has been your one-stop resource for detailed information on special libraries, resource centers, special collections and documentation centers for more than 30 years. Unlike public and academic libraries, which provide access to resources on a variety of general topics, special libraries maintain more detailed collections that focus on a specific subject or a group of closely related topics. Directory of Special Libraries and Information Centers furnishes detailed information on more than 34,500 international libraries and centers covering the complete range of topics, from African American history and environmental design to psychology and zoology.

Fully updated entries in Directory of Special Libraries and Information Centers typically include full contact information, including address, phone, fax, E-mail, Web URL and homepage; name and title of person in charge; date founded; number of staff; subjects represented in the collection; special collections; holdings; subscriptions; services; OPAC availability; electronic resources; networks/consortia; publications; special catalogs; and much more.

Real-world applications might include:

- Business professionals can identify special library collections in business and related fields, compiling a list of detailed contact information
- Graduate students in science can quickly compile a list of special libraries that focus on specific subjects in science and technology
- Historians can easily locate special collections of rare and historically significant documents
- And many others

ABOUT GALE DIRECTORY LIBRARY

With Gale Directory Library, researchers can use state-of-the-art functionality to perform a range of data sorting, filtering and exporting. These innovative features, unlike anything seen previously from our directories, make Gale Directory Library the essential tool for research.

- Find contacts — Finding a company, person, publication (or other kind of entity) is easy. Basic search lets users quickly look up names, search by keyword, and browse the full text of your directory holdings.
- Generate lists, analyze trends — Export search results and use them in programs like Excel or Word, making the creation of mailing lists a snap.
- Cross-searchable — Search across our growing number of directory titles. Each directory can be searched individually by its own unique data fields, or search the entire directory collection.
